ACNE SPRITZ

In skincare, the quest for an acne solution that effectively treats blemishes while remaining gentle on the skin can often seem like an uphill battle. Enter Kanzen Lab's Acne Spritz, a game-changing product crafted with precision. Enriched with our exclusive blend of cutting-edge technology, extracts, and innovative ingredients, this spritz is a ray of hope for those grappling with acne-prone skin.

Our Acne Spritz epitomises the core philosophy of our brand: the fusion of nature and scientific advancements. Our ground-breaking technology is at the heart of this gentle yet potent formula. Extensively researched and developed, it harnesses the power of science to combat acne-causing bacteria, effectively reducing breakouts and unveiling a clearer complexion.

The force of nature is harnessed by including carefully selected botanical extracts. We've tapped into the soothing prowess of aloe, a revered plant known for its calming properties. Incorporating aloe into our spritz alleviates inflammation, redness, and irritation frequently associated with acne.

Spritz away daily to rid your skin of impurities, excess oil, and environmental pollutants that accumulate throughout the day. Witness the metamorphosis as your skin gradually becomes less congested, smoother, and exudes a radiant glow.

ANTI AGING NOTOX SERUM

Take your skincare regimen to new heights with Kanzen Lab Anti-Aging NoTox Serum. This innovative, high-performance serum is designed to reduce visible signs of aging, providing the skin with a smooth, firm, and youthful appearance without the need for invasive procedures.

Our NoTox Serum has been expertly crafted using a blend of the most powerful anti-aging ingredients found in nature. At its core is a potent peptide complex, which simulates the effects of traditional anti-aging treatments, reducing fine lines and wrinkles while enhancing skin's natural elasticity.

The addition of plant-derived hyaluronic acid delivers deep, long-lasting hydration, helping to replenish moisture levels in the skin, plump up lines and wrinkles, and promote a more youthful and radiant complexion. Furthermore, the inclusion of vitamin C offers a brightening effect, enhancing the overall skin tone and providing powerful antioxidant protection.

But what truly sets the NoTox Serum apart is the addition of Bakuchiol, a natural, plant-based alternative to Retinol. Bakuchiol offers the same anti-aging benefits as Retinol but without the associated irritation and sensitivity. It works to promote cell turnover, reduce hyperpigmentation, and improve skin texture and firmness.

CUSTOM FORMULATIONS

Welcome to Kanzen LABS Custom Bespoke Formulation Services, a specialised extension of our established private label offerings. We understand the scientific underpinnings that make each cosmetic product unique, and we invite brands to harness this power in creating their own distinctive products.

Our seasoned chemists and product development specialists in our state-of-the-art laboratories apply advanced cosmetic science to design and synthesise bespoke formulations. This process involves detailed analysis of active and functional ingredients, rigorous stability and performance testing, and iterative refinement to ensure efficacy, safety, and sensorial appeal.

We provide transparency at every formulation development stage by leveraging a scientifically grounded, collaborative approach.

Our expertise in the latest cosmetology research ensures the creation of contemporary and forward-thinking products poised to set new industry standards. With Kanzen LABS, you're not just creating a product but pioneering a beauty revolution with every custom formula.

CUSTOM BESPOKE FORMULATION TIMELINE

Creative Understanding

At this initial stage, we invest time in understanding your brand, vision, and product goals. By discussing desired textures, ingredients, and performance goals, we define the product's blueprint and establish the foundation for the development process. This is the stage where your creative ideas start to take scientific form.

Formulation Development

This is the heart of the process, where our experienced chemists apply advanced cosmetic science to translate the creative understanding into a tangible product. The formulation undergoes iterative stages involving ingredient selection, lab-scale compounding, and rigorous stability and efficacy testing. Your unique product begins to come alive here.

Final Product Sign Off

After completing formulation development and testing, we will present you with the final product to review. It's your chance to evaluate the product and give your approval. This step ensures we have created a product that meets your vision, adheres to industry standards, and exceeds customer expectations.

Final Manufacturing & Collection

Once the formulation receives your approval, it's time for bulk manufacturing. We utilise our state-of-the-art facilities to produce your custom formula at scale, ensuring consistency and quality. After you complete your order, it's ready for collection or delivery, marking the exciting moment when your unique product is prepared to make its mark in the beauty world.
